DELIVERING THE DIFFERENCE

EXPANSION OF NISSENS' OIL COOLER RANGE

With the aim of offering the widest product range in the aftermarket, Nissens is constantly enlarging the product portfolio with new and interesting parts. Now, Nissens' product range of high-quality oil coolers is expanded significantly, and a long list of oil coolers for popular car makes and models has been added to Nissens' wide product range.

OIL COOLERS

The Widest Product Range

To offer the widest range to all our customers and to meet the needs and demands in the aftermarket, we thoroughly investigate the car parks in all the important markets and constantly develop our product range accordingly.

As an engine cooling specialist, it is only natural for Nissens to enlarge our oil cooler range in order to meet the market's growing need for this specific product.

In-House test facilities

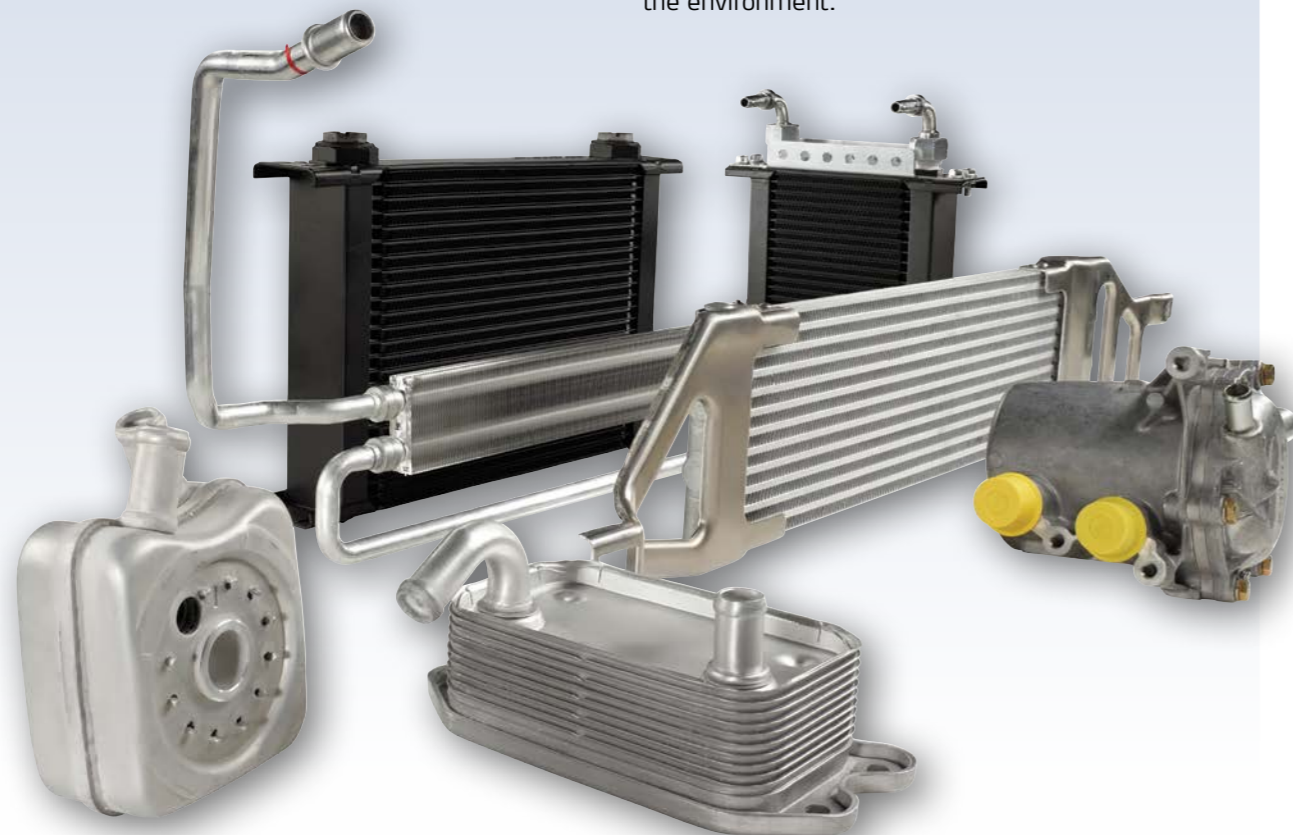

All Nissens' oil coolers are designed and manufactured 100% according to the OE requirements. Nissens' oil coolers are tested in Nissens' advanced in-house test facilities to ensure that they comply with the high quality demands – thus promising a long service life.

The oil cooler development process includes an in-house test series where the oil cooler is pressure impulse tested with 100,000 impulses at a pressure of up to 10.0 bars – all to test the oil cooler resistance to pressure vibrations. Moreover, the oil cooler is thermal expansion tested to test the resistance of the oil coolers to fluctuations of temperatures from 10 to 90 °C.

High-quality packaging

All Nissens' oil coolers are packed in our compact and elegant box design. The solid packing system minimises possible risks of transport and storage damages to the products and, furthermore, the Nissens box optimises logistics costs and protects the environment.

Today, Nissens' oil cooler range is based on 100 complete parts covering more than 300 OE numbers and 2,800 car makes and models. Furthermore, Nissens offers a standard HP/NO oil cooler range of 100 part numbers.

Nissens' oil cooler range is dedicated to the market's most popular cars, vans and trucks. The table below presents a selection of the new oil coolers added to Nissens' product range.
